Treatment Rooms

Worlds of Treatment

Today's array of applications range from classic massages through to treatment rituals from around the world.

The rooms in which the treatments take place must not only be visually inviting, but also require expert planning in order to allow the relevant work to be carried out easily and thus radiate with harmony and wellbeing in its design and function.

The interior decoration of the room must meet the requirements of the staff providing the treatments and at the same time, convey to the guest that they should feel at home there.

The equipment should not be the dominating feature. Light and sound should be able to be altered individually and allow for various scenarios depending on the different treatments.

A New Trend

Double Treatments and Private Spas are becoming increasingly popular. Two people can be treated at the same time with the possibility of enjoying different treatments in a Private Spa with a Sauna and Steam room and can peacefully relax in a pleasant atmosphere for a certain period of time.

At Weise and Partner we combine your sensitive and individual wants and needs with our many years of experience.
